HPNLU, Shimla has always tried to inculcate an interest in moot court culture in its law students and considers moot court an essential part of the law school experience.

The Moot Court Committee (MCC) is the official student committee for managing moot court activities and events at HPNLU. Himachal Pradesh National Law University, Shimla, (HPNLU, Shimla) is delighted to announce the third edition of the National Moot Court Competition, 2022 in association with the National Human Rights Commission (NHRC). The competition is powered by SCC Online and EBC as knowledge partners. Keeping up with the spirit of mooting, this year as well, we are delighted to organize our flagship event in association with NHRC, on the premises of our campus, surrounded by the beautiful landscape of Shimla. MOOT PROPOSITION

1. Indica is a developing peninsular country situated in the Southern part of the Rondwana continent, the largest continent of the world. The country got its independence from British colonial rule in the year 1940 and since then has been governed under a single-party democracy system.
2. Ever since its colonial independence, Indica has led the frontier of the group of common law countries and has had a rich history of legal development, in all aspects of law, over the years and its judicial activism has constantly been praised by the world.
3. Marwadan is a 23-year-old student studying at a premier law institute called Jatala Global Law School and is based in the state of Jatala in the country of Indica. He is a well-reputed poet, who belongs to the religious community Xatalism. He has published many poetic works in Hindi and publishes his work through both, offline and online mediums. His poetic work has always been a source of inspiration for the masses attracting a huge fan following on his social media pages.
4. Art. 19(1)(a) of The Constitution of Indica guarantees every citizen to have Freedom of Speech and Expression, subject to certain reasonable restrictions prescribed under Art. 19(2) of the Constitution. Marwadan has recently published a story in poetic form from Subahvani Prakashan. In one of the verses, he characterised the beauty of a woman of a fictional character by describing her body parts. He also went on to describe in one of the verses about the sexual act in which the woman in character participated with her paramour.
5. One NGO named Abhilashini, working for the empowerment of women in the state of Jatala, found the poem objectionable on several grounds. The head of the NGO, Ms. Chitrakala, when approached for a statement said that “We should collectively remove such mental waste from our society; this is against Indica’s sanskar”. Pursuant to this, the NGO filed a writ petition before the High Court of Jatala, a State in the Republic of Indica, to pass a writ restricting the publication of that poem. The NGO argued before the High Court that the story depicted in the poetic expression is an unreasonable exercise of freedom of speech and expression. Such a form of expression is lascivious and creates prurient interest in the mind of the reader. This poem may deprave and corrupt the mind of possible readers; she also stated that if such material is allowed to fall into the hands of the young and vulnerable generation it will result in a moral hazard. Further, it was argued by the NGO that the poem is obscene; hence, it is an offence punishable under Section 292 of the Indica Penal Code, 1860 (IPC).

6. In the meanwhile, this issue garnered attention from both national and international media. This resulted in widespread criticism of the government and heated debates on several online platforms. Sensing the alarming situation, the Union government issued directions to block public access to the poem by taking it down from all social media platforms.
7. Parallely, multiple protests broke out in various parts of the state of Jatala, where people were agitating for the arrest of Marwadan. In one such protest, things escalated in a precarious manner and the protest took the form of a riot. Therein, police were dispatched to the agitation area, where a group of people used Molotov cocktails against them, which resulted in several grievous injuries to both the police and people who showed up for the protest.
8. Sensing the gravity of the situation, the Union government of Indica passed an order to restrict the internet in the state of Jatala, citing the law and order situation in the state. Further, the investigating agencies also identified Mr. Michael Joseph as the one to have thrown the Molotov cocktail and charged him under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Amendment Act, 2019 famously known as UAPA.
9. Against the internet ban, Marwadan contended that it is violative of his freedom of speech and expression.
10. The Xatali Community worships the female goddess in virgin form and the scriptures of the Xatali religion prohibit any lascivious description of the female body. The religious practices of the Xatali community have been recognized by the State through the Xatali Community Members (Management and Regulation of Conduct) Act, 2022. (Annexure-I) A group of Xatali Community members remarked that the composition by Marwadan is violative of the provisions of the Act.
11. Thereafter, members of the Xatali Community approached the High Court of Jatala, claiming that Marwadan should be prosecuted and punished as per the Act of 2022. The three petitions were clubbed by the High Court of Jatala and heard together where Marwadan claimed the following -
 - That the right to expression was enshrined in the Constitution as fundamental and cannot be abridged by any law of the land.
 - That the provisions of Section 2 of the Xatali Community Members (Management and Regulation of Conduct) Act, 2022 was unconstitutional.
 - That the freedom of speech and expression was at a higher pedestal in the hierarchy of rights as enunciated and expressed in the Constitution of Indica.
 - That the right to freedom of religion could not go beyond the general moral prescriptions emerging from human rights as enunciated and conferred internationally by virtue of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

- That the provision of the Act of 2022 was also violative of the jus cogens with respect to protection of human rights and thus ultra vires.
 - That the right to access the internet was a fundamental right under the Constitution of Indica.
12. The High Court declined to provide any relief to the NGO or the members of the Xatala Community on the ground that the author has not exceeded the legitimate domain of expression allowed by the Constitution. However, the High Court did not interfere in the religious or the right to access to the internet, or the UAPA aspect of the petition, stating that the issues raised important questions of constitutional law that needed to be settled and that the interference of the highest court was needed.
13. The Supreme Court of Indica took note of the matter and constituted a thirteen-judge bench to decide the matter. Accordingly, the following issues have been framed before the Supreme Court of Indica:
1. Whether the Xatali Community Members (Management and Regulation of Conduct) Act, 2022 is ultra vires the Constitution of Indica?
 2. Whether there is a hierarchical scheme in the idea of fundamental rights?
 3. Whether the author's right to freedom and speech and expression violates the general standard of morality or decency established by the community?
 4. Whether the right to freedom of speech and expression be curtailed on the ground that it is violative of the religious sentiments of a particular community?
 5. Whether the right to access to the internet is a fundamental right under Article 21 of Indica?
 6. Whether the 2019 amendment to the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Amendment Act, 2019 is manifestly arbitrary and violative of Articles 14 and 21 of the Constitution of Indica?

NOTES:

- A. The Constitution and all other laws of Indica should be interpreted in pari materia with the Constitution and other laws of India and no such fact is pari materia to any country.
- B. Participants are at liberty to take additional arguments/ grounds in support of the issues raised herein.
- C. The events and the characters depicted in the moot court problem are purely a work of fiction and hypothetical. Any similarity to actual persons living or dead is purely coincidental. This Moot Problem is purely intended for the Moot Court Competition and educational purposes amongst law students.
