

CERTIFICATE COURSE ON ADVANCED LEGAL RESEARCH AND WRITING

COURSE OUTLINE

Class 1: Introduction and Topic Selection

Class 2: Research and Structure

Class 3: Writing Style and Citations

Class 4: Revision and Publication

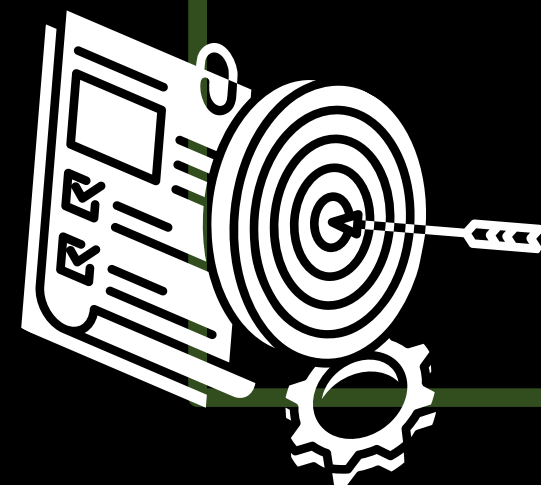

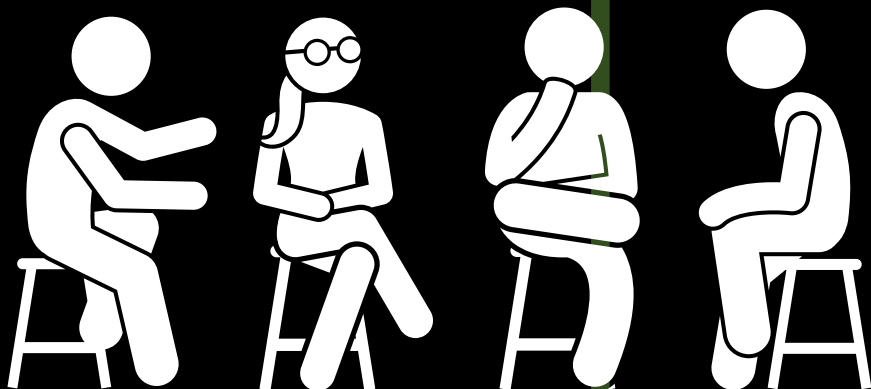

Assessment and Live feedback

Class 1: Introduction and Topic Selection

- Overview of the course and its objectives
- Importance of effective writing in legal and academic contexts
- Discussion on different writing genres and their purposes
- Strategies for selecting a relevant and engaging topic
- Interactive activities for topic brainstorming
- Group discussion on chosen topics

Class 2: Research and Structure

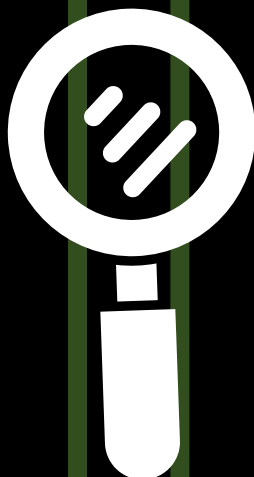

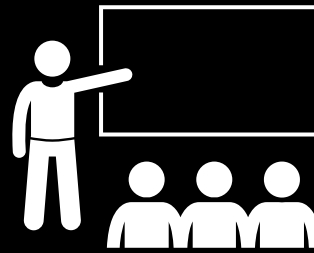

- Introduction to effective legal research methods
- Tips for evaluating the credibility of sources
- Hands-on practice with online databases and library resources
- Outlining key sections and their purposes
- Crafting a Compelling Introduction
- Developing a Solid Structure

Class 3: Writing Style and Citations

- Achieving clarity and precision in writing
- Organizing the research paper or article effectively
- Building a persuasive argument
- Analysing and countering counterarguments
- Writing Blogs and Op-Eds

Class 4: Revision and Publication

- Importance of revising and editing
- Techniques for self-editing and proofreading
- Identifying suitable journals, navigating submission, and peer-review processes
- Group peer review session with constructive feedback
- Tips for preparing presentations and participating in conferences
- Reflection on the overall learning journey

Assessment and Blog/Article Checking:

As part of the Certificate Course on Advanced Legal Research and Writing, participants will undergo a dynamic assessment process that includes the submission and live checking/feedback of their articles and blogs. This personalized approach ensures that participants receive detailed feedback from industry experts, offering valuable insights into refining their research and writing skills. The assessments cover various dimensions, such as legal analysis, effective communication, and other considerations in legal writing. This interactive feedback mechanism is designed to provide participants with practical guidance, allowing them to strengthen their abilities in crafting compelling legal research papers.

